The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The limitation of elastomer (B) to a polyether ester amide resolves the 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, rejection.

The amendment filed November 23, 2004 in the table on page 8 provides calculated ratios of acid groups of acid-modified olefinic resin (C):amide groups of polyether ester amide elastomer (B) for Example 17 of Table 5 (page 43 of the specification) and Examples 19-25 and Comparative Example 17 of Table 6 (page 45).

Examples 17 and 19-24 reflect the claimed composition with a representative sampling of acid:amide ratios within the claimed range of from 0.1-50:100. Comparative Example 17 represents the closest prior art to Ueda et al. Patent No. 5,652,326 wherein a non-acid containing polyolefin is employed. The evidence presented in Tables 5 and 6 demonstrate unexpected results in tensile elongation percentage and Izod impact strengths for the claimed acid:amide ratio range.

The closest prior art example is embodied in Example 54 of Ueda et al. Patent No. 5,652,326 (col. 29, Table 21) containing polyether ester amide A-2 (col. 13, Example 2), polyethylene B-7 (col. 29, Table 19 footnote), polyacetal resin B-8* (Table 21 footnote) and maleic anhydride-modified polyethylene C-7 (col. 20, Preparation Example 7). The combined weight of polyether ester amide A-2 and C-7 is 30 parts by weight per 100 parts by weight of the composition (phr) which is within the claimed parameters of from 0.5-60 phr. However, the level of polyether ester amide A-2 relative to anhydride-modified polyethylene C-7 is 92.9:7.1 which is outside of the claimed limits of from 10:90 to 90:10% by weight.

Art Unit: 1712

Since the acid:amide ratio of Example 54 cannot be ascertained, the low content of anhydride-modified polyethylene in the closest prior art is accurately reflected in Comparative Example 17 which exhibits inferior tensile elongation percentage and Izod impact strength.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled
